TRT Communications named an ESI Gold Level Quality Reseller

Denton firm provides ESI's innovative business communications solutions

PLANO, TEXAS; JANUARY 1, 2008 — ESI, an innovative leader of digital and IP business communications systems, has designated TRT Communications, Inc., of Denton, as a Gold Level Quality Reseller. This is one of the highest recognitions an ESI Reseller can receive under the manufacturer's Reseller Quality Program (RQP), which works with ESI Resellers nationwide to improve end user satisfaction and maintain a high quality standard for all ESI Resellers.

"We're proud to be recognized by ESI as a Gold Level Quality Reseller," said Tom Eveleth of TRT Communications. "Our philosophy revolves around working with customers from the beginning of our relationship to provide a communications solution that truly meets their needs. This award reinforces that commitment to our customers."

TRT Communications joined the ESI Reseller Quality Program in 2007. As part of the program, ESI interviews TRT Communications' customers to judge their level of satisfaction with ESI products and the skill and professionalism that the Reseller has displayed — not only during the product installation, but in fulfilling the customers' communications needs before, during, and after the sale. Those Resellers who consistently receive the highest scores from the interviews are honored as Gold Level Quality Resellers.

"We are very pleased to honor TRT Communications for its success in meeting the business communications needs of its customers," said Pam Hughes, ESI's Vice President of Sales and Marketing. "We look forward to their continued success delivering ESI products to produce high quality results."
